

[Updated Wednesday October 2, 2013. Final Update.

YET FURTHER Change of Venue announcement:

MOST discussion sessions will meet in the Jeffrey H. Loria building, home of the Yale University Department of Art History, at 190 York Street, close to the intersection with Chapel Street. Because of late-breaking developments beyond the organizers' control, a small number of the sessions have been moved to nearby locations. These changes affect only Friday morning (Oct. 4) sessions: the 8.30-10.00 sessions have been moved to Linsly-Chittenden, a short stroll from Loria, and three of the four 10.30-12.00 sessions are in venues close by—Bass Library in two cases and the Yale Center for British Art in one (see the assignments, below.)

A final program in printed form, and a customized map, will be available for collection at Registration.

Venues for the Plenary Lectures and optional conference events are specified in the Program, below. A list of all registrants appears at the end of this Program.]
